

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Security & Risk Management Group, LLC (SRMG) and the Internet Association Corporation (IAC) Deliver Webinar, “Policing in the 21st Century through the Internet”

Los Angeles, CA, December 1, 2006 – SRMG and IAC delivered a free interactive Webinar for law enforcement and security professionals on November 29, 2006. During the event, a panel of experts discussed Internet technologies like Google maps, e-mail, Really Simple Syndication (RSS), Short Message Service (SMS), online communities, and other tools that can be used to effectively disseminate information, gather tips, solve crime, and engage individuals in the security/safety process.

You can access a recorded version of the Webinar and downloadable copies of the associated Microsoft PowerPoint presentation and white paper on the Internet using the following hyperlinks:

- http://www.iaccorp.com/Policing_in_the_21st_Century.wmv
- <http://www.iaccorp.com/PolicePresentation.ppt>
- http://www.iaccorp.com/21st_Century_Policing.pdf

IAC is a social networking software development company that provides groups and organizations worldwide with online tools to help them communicate with and acquire more data about their members via a series of revenue-generating channels. For more information, go to <http://www.iaccorp.com/>.

In today's ever-changing, increasingly heightened security environment, your business assets and personal interests need protection as never before. SRMG, a consulting company specializing in independent global security and risk management services for corporations and individuals, can work with you to develop a customized solution that will successfully secure both your business and personal environments.

Visit our Web site at <http://www.srmg-link.com> to learn how SRMG can create a more secure environment for you, increasing your productivity, enhancing the shareholder value of your corporations, and improving the quality of both your business and family life through our proven secur-link process.